

Business Cards

Business Cards may be small, but they carry big weight when it comes to making a lasting impression. This section outlines the standards I use for my business card design, layout, and distribution. From logo placement and brand colors to contact info and QR codes, every detail is intentional and aligned with my overall brand identity. My business card isn't just a way to share contact information—it's a reflection of my professionalism, style, and the quality of service I offer. Whether handed out at an open house, community event, or casual conversation, it should always be memorable and on-brand.
