CENTURY 21. | Heritage Group Ltd. | Stronger support starts with self-awareness. | STRONG SUPPORT. STRONGER TEAM.

A DISC profile helps each team member better understand their natural communication style, work preferences, strengths, and potential challenges. It also gives the team a shared language for working together more effectively.

By understanding whether someone is more dominant, influential, steady, or conscientious, team members can adjust how they communicate, delegate, manage conflict, provide feedback, and support one another. This can lead to stronger relationships, clearer expectations, better collaboration, and a more productive team environment.
